To achieve highest and best use of materials, UCLA has partnered with Human-I-T to refurbish electronic waste rather than sending the materials to recycling/demanufacturing. The refurbished products will be provided to low-income individuals, underserved communities, and nonprofits in need of technology, internet, and digital training. More information can be found at https://www.human-i-t.org/